

Washington Report

by GEORGE ANDREWS
Member of Congress
Third District of Ala.

Take an unpopular war, a government which thinks money can buy anything, and plenty of people who take a "let George do it" attitude about military service, and you've got the basis for the current demand for an all-volunteer military establishment in this nation.

One of the many unfortunate byproducts of the endless Vietnam War, it is highly speculative, expensive, impractical, and worst of all - dangerous. With opposition to the War in Vietnam strongly motivating their demands for an end to the draft, many Congressional supporters of an all-volunteer military force claim that it will produce a more efficient military.

What organization couldn't be more efficient? We are not still bogged down in Vietnam because our military forces are inefficient. We are there because they have not been allowed to do the job for which they have been trained and at considerable expense to American taxpayers.

The first and foremost consideration in any talk of draft reform or abolishment should be the ability of this nation to adequately defend itself -- on short notice, if need be -- and to meet its military commitments abroad.

In my judgment, an all-volunteer military establishment, highly paid or not, places our ability to perform both functions in serious jeopardy. The President's Commission on an All-Volunteer Armed Force, established in 1969, and headed by former Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, recommended the establishment of an all-volunteer force, supported by a stand-by draft, and a large increase in pay for first-term enlisted men and junior officers.

The Commission gave two estimates of military manpower requirements -- 2.5 million men and 3 million men. It further estimated that at least half of the 500,000 men who have enlisted each year for the first time in the last few years were "true" volunteers who would have enlisted had there been no draft.

Therefore, concluded the Commission, only 75,000 to 150,000 new volunteers need to be enlisted each year, and these can come from the 1.5 million physically and mentally fit men turning 19 each year by raising the pay for first-term enlistees.

However, we had 3.5 million men in uniform in 1967 and without a large reduction in our foreign commitments, the Commission's recommendation of 3 million taining both officers and enlisted men. First-term enlistees are re-enlisting at a rate of about 9 percent, compared to 23 percent in 1965.

The notion that an all-volunteer armed force will be more efficient because the volunteers will be highly motivated, work harder, and stay in the service longer, rests on shaky ground.

Rather than attracting those with the technological skills to maintain a modern sophisticated armed force, the first-term pay increase offer would most likely attract the unskilled and under-educated. This situation would lead to remedial training and generally poor performance.

While the Gates Commission said an all-volunteer force could cost the country an additional $3.24 billion, the Department of Defense estimated in 1966 that an all-volunteer force of 2.5 million men would cost between $4 billion and $7 billion each year, depending on the state of the economy.

In addition to the problems of an all-volunteer force, the Commission's suggested stand-by draft would be hard pressed to meet most emergency situations fast enough.

The highly-paid professional all-volunteer military force sounds more like a mercenary force and conceivably could take on the character of true mercenaries, looking for a battle anywhere, regardless of national interest.

Steps have been made to end inequities in the draft, and I am confident that efforts to this end will be continued. They will continue to receive my strong support. However, rather than a mercenary force, I prefer a system that insures that a large cross-section of America, mostly civilian-oriented, will be represented throughout the Armed Forces. This will at least insure that the military with the Rev. Johnny B. Spurlin and the Rev. Comer Harrison officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery, Hayes Funeral Home directing.

City Loses Case In Trailer Suit

The City of Elba lost a law suit contesting the Trailer Park Ordinance last year by the City Council. The suit was brought by Mr. Roy Watkins who was refused electric service to a trailer he set up on space that previously had a trailer but was moved.

Watkins took the case to court and Judge Riley Green ruled that the section of the law concerning existing house trailers and replacing them was not legal. At press time Tuesday evening the City Council was in session and had made no announcement concerning their choice to appeal the case. However, City Clerk Tom Dyess had been instructed not to authorize the connection of any trailers except in trailer parks until after the Council had met and acted on the matter.

Wet - Dry Petitions Are Now Circulating

A movement has been started in Enterprise to hold a referendum on legalizing the sale of alcoholic beverages in Coffee County. The action was announced in Enterprise last week. Spokesman for the group E. A. Phillips, said volunteers are working in Enterprise now and will be soliciting signatures in Elba soon on petitions to call the election. To have the election called, qualified voters equal to one-fourth of the number who voted in the last general election must sign a petition calling for the referendum. This means that 2,375 valid signatures will be required on the petition before Probate Judge James Sawyer has to order the referendum. An advertisement in this issue of the Clipper urges voters not to sign the petition. The ad says it would cost $3000 to hold an election and the money can be put to a better use.

The saying about "It is better to remain silent and be thought a fool, rather than to open your mouth and remove all doubt" just never "I" sink into my head. Last week I took someone's word about no fire plugs in Kennedy Estates. This is in error as Water Superintendent Donald Stewart was the first to inform me (but not the only one). There is a fire plug in the subdivision and according to Stewart, "The firemen probably should have used that instead of pulling back to the Taylor Mill Road." I made a mistake and was eager to correct it. I will in time make others and don't mind anyone calling my hand, with either fact or opinion.

The Tuesday daily papers had two stories of orphan children. One was a newborn baby, only hours old. It is horrible to think of a new born child being placed in a plastic bag in the waste can. That mother now says she wants the child, but if it were my job to decide, she couldn't have the baby because there is not enough room under that jail for both mother and child.

The Grand Jury, Enterprise Division, has recommended the combination of the offices of Tax Collector and Tax Assessor. This would take an act of the legislature and my observers feel we should "go with the majority." I understand this is why this was never done before, as it has been discussed in the Coffee County for years. I don't see what it matters if the other counties spend money on two offices, if it will save money for us and still get the job done, then let's set the shining example.

The Elba City School Board was reluctant to move the old barracks last year to establish an elementary middle school. This was justified if you will look at the condition of the buildings. Unjustified however, if the reports I get are true, is the dangerous conditions that have been left there. I intend to have a look for myself and will ask Superintendent Elmer Taylor to show me around some afternoon soon.

On their arrival the members were seated at colorful tables decorated with red streamers and lace valentine hearts. A delicious dessert plate with coffee was served.

Mrs. Cecil Prescott, club parliamentarian, presided and led the members in reading the club collect. Mrs. Robert Davis, secretary, called the roll and read the minutes of the January meeting. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Price Ringo. At the close of the program Mrs. Kimmy Hammond, choral director, led the members in singing the hymn of the month.

18 Fatalities Occur Over Weekend

The Alabama highway patrol investigated 40 rural traffic accidents with 68 injuries and 18 fatalities from 6:00 p.m. Friday through 12 midnight Sunday. The fatalities occurred in the following counties:

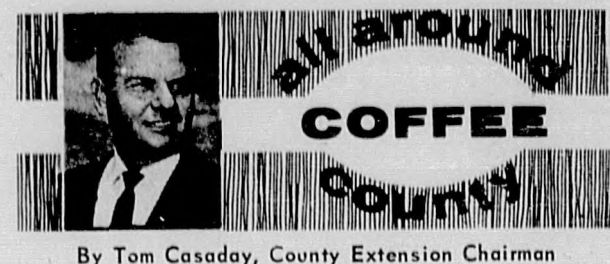

Five in Houston, 6 in Washington, 2 in Baldwin, and 1 each in Baldwin, Russell, Jefferson, Pickens and Pike County.

These accidents bring the number of people killed in rural Alabama traffic accidents this year to 99 compared with 79 killed during the same period last year for an increase of 20 fatalities.

Dodan district troopers investigated 8 accidents with 5 injuries and 8 fatalities during this period. The Dodan district has 16 fatalities so far this year as compared with 6 at this same time last year.

Seat belts have no purpose by themselves. Only when worn do they become useful. It's a fact—many accidents would have been fatal except for the use of seat belts. Colonel Walter Allen, State Director of Public Safety, asks every one to buckle up—front seat and back—all the time.

Coffee County troopers investigated 1 accident this weekend with 2 injuries and no fatalities. So far this year 1 person has been killed in motor vehicle traffic accidents in this county as compared with 1 killed during the same period last year.

Some of these members are going to help me with a television program on the Auburn Today program in Montgomery February 13.

PEANUT WINNERS. Three Coffee County peanut farmers will be honored at the annual 3,000 Pound Peanut Club in Dothan tonight of March 4. The top producer in 1970 was W. L. Grimley of Route 2, Enterprise. Grimley made an average of 3385 pounds on a 25-acre allotment. Second place winner is Kenneth Sanders of Route 2, Brundage with an average of 3259 pounds on 35 acres. Third place in the county goes to Johnny J. Jones of Route One, Enterprise who averaged 3141 pounds on a 28.8 acre allotment.

Several other farmers including Chapple Curington of Route 2, Enterprise and O. C. Nobles of Route One, Kingston came close on large acreage but did not quite make it.

FIRE AND CONTROL. Late March, April and May are good times to control the fire ant. Fire ants become much more active in the spring. The only material that is safe to use where animals graze is Mirex. This material is used at the rate of 3-5 pounds per acre is very effective. If you have a few mounds, less than a pound would be needed.

The Coffee County Fire Ant Committee is able to get Mirex at greatly reduced prices. Orders may be placed at the county Extension office in Enterprise for a higher amount. For

Wish I'd Said THAT

The wife who snatches her husband's pay-check can hardly expect the old fellow to continue to say it with flowers and candy—N. De-Vane Williams, Holmes County (Fla.) Advertiser.

By Tom Casaday, County Extension Chairman important than ever than Coffee County farmers know which varieties are planted in each field. It will be necessary to know the number of the hybrid as well as the name. For example, there are several varieties within each breeder's group. Funks has several and so does Coker, Pioneer and others. I surely hope that each farmer will keep a record of the exact hybrid planted in each field.

CAUTION. Several people have mentioned to me the fact that there are people offering services to lawns, trees and shrubs in Enterprise, Elba and New Brookton for a fee. In some cases the rate they charge seems to be pretty steep. I would advise homeowners in the county to know what they are paying before they authorize the spraying of shrubs and other work done by these commercial operators.

Probably most important of all be sure that the operator that you deal with has a commercial license to do the kind of work that he is advertising. It has been brought to my attention that some of these people are self-appointed and are not qualified to do the work.

Especially do we thank the members of the doctors' and nurses' staff at Elba General Hospital who were so kind and understanding not only to her but to her friends and relatives who visited her at the hospital. 2/18/71.

'Gamellia Show' Enjoyed By Azalea Garden Club

The home of Mrs. T. T. Rhodes was the setting for the "Gamellia Show" program of the Azalea Garden Club on Wednesday morning, February 10, with Mrs. Rhodes and Mrs. Mayo Prescott serving as joint hostesses.

The several varieties of colorful Gamellias made the attractive decoration. A delicious refreshment of cake topped with cream and cherries, nuts and coffee were served as the members assembled at the 9:30 hour.

Mrs. Oliver Williams, president, opened the meeting with group reading of the Club Collect. The order of business was reversed to enjoy a most interesting and instructive program on "Gamellias" by the guest speaker, Mr. Monroe Richardson, of the Richardson Nursery, He discussed the planting, care, spraying for health of the plant and for insect pests from his nursery. He gave much additional information during the question and answer period which followed his demonstration.

Soil Problems Can Spoil Garden Hopes

All gardeners are optimists, says Extension Horticulturist Perry Smith. Each spring they put seed or plants into the soil with visions of fresh vegetables in mind. But year after year many gardens are unsuccessful because of soil problems, which can be identified and solved by making simple tests for lime and fertilizer for nematodes.

The time and money spent on gardening in an area with problem soil is wasted. The county Extension office has instructions and test at least every three years. Time and money soil samples.

'SENIOR OF THE WEEK'

A very well liked student, Henry Hornsby, was chosen 'Senior of the Week' at EHS. Our congratulations go to Henry upon being elected Senior of the Week. Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hornsby.

His favorite interests vary from girls to football to hunting, while he also enjoys swimming.

His favorite teacher is Mr. Clark with his favorite class being history. Up to now Henry has no plans for the future.

Henry's opinion of school is that it is a place to learn at, make preparations for college. He thinks school would be better if the teachers gave students easier tests.

Henry thinks the qualities a girl should have are good looks and a great figure.

Congratulations Henry!!

New Vocational Building Planned

We are very glad to hear the Elba City Board is making plans to build a new Area Vocational building. This would include all of the Vocational courses offered now, plus several others. Since our present vocational building is so old and out dated, we feel that a new vocational building with additional vocational courses will be very good for our High School.

WHAT IF:

--B. B. never hit J. B?
--Rhonda W. made sense?
--Ronnie P. was ever serious?
--Melanie and Alice got in trouble?
--Mr. Hickman was a coach?
--The ninth grade knew if they were in Junior or Senior High?
--Everybody skipped school the same day?
--We had a 10 minute break between each class?
--Bev C. never got mad at Coach Carmichael?
--Everybody got along with Mr. Antone?
--Mark J. didn't tell corny jokes?
--Nobody got through with their dress in Home Ec. before the deadline?
--We could eat during classes?
--Babs got her permit on the first try?
--Billy P. stayed in Algebra 2nd semester?
--Henrietta worked at the Packing House?
--Lucia forgot how to direct?
--Mr. Antone didn't have a paddle?
--Banny Cooper got a crew cut?

The world uncertain comes

My careful heart was free

O friend, my bosom said,
Through thee alone the sky

Through thee the rose is red.
All these things through

And look beyond the earth
The mill-round of our fate

WORSHIP

IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor in each for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a source of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, no democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four main reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Memories are precious things. I remember often the afternoon on our honeymoon when Jim and I visited these old cliff dwellings in Colorado. Later, we stopped at a mission church built of pink adobe. It was dark and cool inside, and you felt that many prayers had been said here, and many answered.

I thought of our own church back home - white frame, in a green New England valley. I was reared in that church. I was married in it, and you'll find Jim and me at worship in it each Sunday. It's a vital part of our life.

Unless you have a church that is vital to your life, you are missing something irreplaceable. Don't wait any longer. Select the Church of your choice - and start attending it this Sunday.

Public Warned Of Defective "Fad" Toy

The Food and Drug Administration issued the following public warning on February 10, 1971.

Dr. Charles C. Edwards, Commissioner of Food and Drugs, warned parents that a novel toy just recently and widely marketed, consisting of two cord-connected plastic balls, may be dangerous and could cause injury through snatching or impact.

The toy is designed for a motion-type use. The plastic balls, held by a center ring or knot, are intended to be clacked together, rhythmically, top and bottom, as the cord is given a pumping motion.

FDA is investigating reports of injury from sharp fragments. An obvious hazard occurs when the cord breaks or a ball becomes detached from the cord and becomes a mischievous projectile. Laboratory tests to measure velocities achieved and shatter potential of the product.

ASCS SET-ASIDE HELPS FARMERS

The set-aside feature of 1971 farm programs for feed grain, wheat and cotton should help producers concentrate on the crops they can produce best, according to Mr. Elton Weeks, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee.

Under the new program, a producer agrees to set aside a pre-determined number of acres of cropland from production and devote it to approved soil-conserving uses. He then can plant his remaining cropland to any crop he wishes except for sugar cane and behind the set-aside feature, according to Mr. Weeks, is that producers in the Southeast, and in the best position to take advantage of growing world demand for farm products, Mr. Weeks said.

Mr. Weeks said the set-aside idea seems to fit with trends that have been building in farming over the years. These include the trend in which American farms have grown fewer in number and larger in size, and the trend for producers to become more productive. The efficient, competitive producer will be in the best position to take advantage of growing world demand for farm products, Mr. Weeks said.
